Actions for clubs

- Offer family or group discounts.
- Search for additional funds if parents and clubs cannot pay all the activity costs. (e.g. local subsidies from municipalities, associations, and projects)
- Give youngsters and parents the opportunity to decrease the contribution by working voluntary for the club.
- Create payment alternatives adjusted to parents' financial capacities.
- Inform parents correctly about the sport costs in advance in order to allow informed decisions about the choice of club and sport.
- Be aware of the change in costs if youngsters become senior members. Support parents and youngsters if necessary.
- Develop specific programs targeted to focus on youngsters from vulnerable groups.
- Create joint projects with the parents and the community to reduce costs impact.
- Whenever possible, for youngsters with low economic background, the club should create alternatives to reduce costs by offering free training stages; however, they have to devote their time and show improvement in their practice.
- Find national and regional programs to subsidise development projects in order to keep costs at reasonable level.
